The President Speaks

ON A MATTER INTERESTING TO INTENDING OFFICE-SEEKERS.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—The president before leaving for New York, informed members of the cabinet that he should adhere to his determination not to see applicants for office personally, and that he should, upon his return, give public notice that he would not entertain any applications made to him.
He said he did not intend to be accompanied by office-seekers as were his predecessors.
Friends of Blaine say that he will accept the English position upon retiring from the cabinet and remain abroad two years. They deny that he has indicated any intention of not attending to the presidential nomination in 1883.

Judge Folger writes here that he will not be ready to assume the duties of secretary before the latter part of the month, or just in time to prepare his annual report for the meeting of congress.

The interest in internal revenue receipts during the past four months over corresponding months last year amounts to $7,993,377.
At this rate the total receipts this year will reach $160,000,000.

Another Tumble.

There was weeping and wailing and a plentiful array of sack-cloth and ashes on 'change this morning. The excitement, which commenced yesterday, culminated to-day when wheat dropped to $1.24 and corn to 50 cents. Margins were exhausted, and checks were not cashed, and the bulls were rushing about in a state of frantic madness. In two days the market had dropped 3 1/2 to 4 cents, almost entirely overwhelming the small dealers. There were rumors of failures about the big board, but nothing authentic could be learned. Settling clerks were rushing hither and thither, members were rent for and it seemed as if panic-mania reigned supreme on the floor. On the open board nearly every one was trying to get rid of his wheat, believing that every moment the market would take a still further drop—Chicago News Nov. 4th.

In Memoriam.

Dedicated to the memory of "Little Minnie," adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J.
Bridges, who departed this life Sept. 27, '81.

Farewell dear father and mother, I bid you adieu,
And on your journey may you persevere.
Your company was sweet, your union dear, Your words delightful to my ear;
And when I thought we had to part,
You drew like cords around my heart.
Oh sister Ellen I will not forget you, I go away and here you stay,
But still I'm joined in heart, If I can I bear to journey where With you I cannot meet.
Brother Eddie, where is he?
He was so kind and good to me.
Mourn not poor sorrowing soul, Though to-day be dark with sorrow And thy heart be rent with fear; Joy shall greet thee with the morrow, Smiles shall drive away thy tears.
Go to thy rest fair child, Go to thy dreamless bed, While yet so gently fled With blessings on thy head, Fresh roses in thy hand, Buds on thy pillow laid, Ere from this dark and fearful land Where flowers so quickly fade.
Before thy heart had learned In waywardness to stray; Before thy feet had ever learned The dark and downward way, Or in sad sorrow thy breast, Or sorrow woke the tear, Thou sought the throne of changeless rest In thy celestial sphere. M. P.

How the Poor are Taxed.

The people are told that they are not taxed to pay the interest on bonds, and the story, since being so often repeated by both old parties, is believed. And while it is not the tariff upon imported goods, not even to the extent of a protective tariff, where protection is necessary to the establishment of new enterprises, that we oppose, we do oppose the abuses that have crept in under the guise of fostering industry.

It is such abuses as tax commodities of every day use and consumption among laboring people from 5 to 100 per cent, while the manufacturer is exporting the same goods at less than one half what he is receiving at home from the same labor that produced them.

If you think labor pays no part of the interest on the bonds, listen while we recite the tax upon a few of the articles in common use:

The farmer starting for his work has a shoe put on his horse with the nailer TAXED 67 per cent, driven with a hammer TAXED 54 per cent, he cuts a stick with a knife TAXED 50 per cent; he hitches his horse to a plow TAXED 60 per cent; with trace chains TAXED 67 per cent. He returns to his house at night and lies his weary limbs on a sheet TAXED 58 per cent; and covers himself with a blanket that has paid a TAX of 80 per cent. He rises in the morning, puts on his cheap COAT which is TAXED 45 per cent; his flannel shirt is TAXED 80 per cent; his SHOES are TAXED 83 per cent, and the hat on his head is TAXED 70 per cent; he opens a Bible that is TAXED 37 per cent; he kneels to his God on a CAR-PET TAXED 100 per cent; the cheap plates from which he eats his meals pay a TAX of 40 per cent, and his cup of coffee sweetened with SUGAR TAXED 70 per cent. The mechanic seasons his food with SALT TAXED 130 per cent. If he chews tobacco he pays a TAX of 100 per cent.

The foregoing shows what the bonds cost the people. This imposition can be removed by paying the bonds, but the Democratic and Republican parties propose not to pay the bonds, but PARTICIPATE them for thirty years, and pay the bondholders annually $100,000,000 interest.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE is on our table for November, AHEAD OF ALL OTHERS, and better than ever. It leads off with a charming steel engraving, after Meyer Von Bremen, "Half A Head." This is followed by one of those double-size, steel fashion-plates, superbly colored, only seen in this magazine. It has a beautiful illustration of a woman in "Lacy Hall," illustrating an exquisitely interesting story, and then some fifty wood cuts, dresses, patterns in embroidery, &c., &c.
There is also a superb colored slipper pattern, for tracing, in crimson and gold. The principal article is "A Day At Canterbury," which is profusely illustrated, and is of a character very much higher than is usually seen in magazines. The tales and novels are even better than usual, and "Peterson," as is known, always gives the best. With this number, appears the Prospectus for 1882, when SIX ORIGINAL NOVELS will be given, and, in addition, A HUNDRED SHORTER STORIES, and articles like "Canterbury," will also appear. Also a Paper Pattern for a Dress, every month. The price of "Peterson" is but TWO DOLLARS A Year, postage free.
To clubs, the terms are even lower, viz: two copies for $3.50, with a superb engraving (size 20 inches by 16) "Hush, Don't Wake Them," or a handsome Photograph Album, as a premium. Or four copies for $6.50, and an extra copy of the magazine each as premium. Or five copies for $8.00, with both, an extra copy and either the Engraving or Album for premium. For larger clubs, the premiums are even more tempting. Now is the time to get up clubs for 1882. "Peterson" combines more, for a less price than any other. Specimens are sent, gratis, if written for. Subscribe to nothing until you have seen a copy. Address, CHARLES J.
PETERSON, 806 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

BLIND TIGERS.

If a Royal Bengal Tiger should appear on our streets every brave man would join in hunting him to the death, and every timid man would be likely to get down cellar.
But if to the natural ferocity of the Royal beast were added the deceitful wiles of the serpent and the sneaking thievery of the hyena or jackal he would be a less dangerous and more respectable animal than the "blind tiger," which has his den in the lower part of the town and which our citizens seem to look upon with calm indifference. If the royal beast were to be turned loose on our streets the danger is easy to estimate, honorable wounds or an honorable death might be the portion of a few and the danger would be forever past. But who that was in town on Saturday and saw men reeling about, by twos and threes who might say: "united we stand divided we fall," who were bringing disgrace upon their friends and poverty and dishonor upon themselves and families, and whose names then appeared, it would be hard to find a man who would not say that he would not see a tiger loose on our

we stand divided we fall," who were bringing disgrace upon their friends and poverty
and dishonor upon themselves and families,
and whose names then appeared, it would
be hard to find a man who would not say that he would not see a tiger loose on our streets the danger is easy to estimate, honorable wounds or an honorable death might be the
Saturday and saw men reeling about, by
twos and threes who might say: "united
we stand divided we fall," who were bringing disgrace upon their friends and poverty
and dishonor upon themselves and families, and whose names then appeared, it would
